Yellowjackets Explode Early, Down Bulls 9–4

The Yellowjackets erupted for five first-period goals and never looked back in a 9–4 win over the Bulls. John Petricig led the early charge with a pair of goals in the opening frame, while Sean Taylor and Trey McMillen also found the scoresheet as the Yellowjackets built a commanding lead. The Bulls managed a shorthanded tally from John Killion, but the offensive surge from the Yellowjackets proved overwhelming.

The momentum continued in the second period with two more goals from the Yellowjackets, including tallies from Chris Boussy and Taylor. Petricig continued to factor heavily in the attack, piling up assists as the Yellowjackets capitalized on their chances despite being outshot through much of the game.

The Bulls showed pushback in the third period with three goals, including another from Killion, but the deficit was too large to overcome. Drew Fitzgerald and Boussy added late markers to cap the scoring, while John Belanger secured the win in net as the Yellowjackets' explosive start carried them to a decisive victory.

Mariners Blank Vipers Behind Fryia's Two-Goal Night

The Mariners controlled the game from start to finish, skating to a 3–0 shutout win over the Vipers. Shayne Fryia set the tone early, scoring twice in the first period, including the game-winner, as the Mariners jumped out to a quick two-goal advantage while limiting the Vipers to just a single shot in the opening frame.

Trevor Malmgren extended the lead early in the second period with an unassisted goal, giving the Mariners full command of the matchup. With steady puck possession and relentless pressure, the Mariners built a commanding 26–8 edge in shots and rarely allowed the Vipers to establish any offensive rhythm.

Mike Ciavattieri was sharp throughout, turning aside all eight shots he faced to secure the shutout. With balanced defense and timely scoring, the Mariners delivered a complete performance in a decisive victory.

Monarchs Edge Kodiaks in Overtime Thriller, 3–2

The Monarchs outlasted the Kodiaks in a tightly contested 3–2 overtime victory, fueled by a strong offensive push and timely finishing. Matt Drew opened the scoring in the first period to give the Monarchs an early edge, but the Kodiaks responded in the second when Jack Allen buried the equalizer to keep the game even heading into the third.

Steve White restored the Monarchs' lead early in the third, only to see Tyler Fiumara answer midway through the period to tie the game at 2–2. Both teams traded chances down the stretch, and the physical play intensified, highlighted by multiple penalties and misconducts in a heated third period.

In overtime, Kirk Douglas delivered the decisive blow, scoring the game-winner just before the two-minute mark to seal the victory. Jesse Schwalm earned the win in net as the Monarchs finished with a 32–26 edge in shots in an intense, back-and-forth battle.

	 Threshers (1 - 4 - 0) MASTERS	3	0	3	6

Threshers Surge Past Knights in High-Scoring 6–3 Win

The Threshers outpaced the Knights in an up-tempo 6–3 victory, powered by a dominant offensive performance and a commanding 35–15 edge in shots. The opening period was a flurry of action, with Travis Dupuis striking first before the Knights answered with back-to-back unassisted goals from John Hagan and Adam Solari. The Threshers responded quickly, as Michael Thamert scored twice late in the period to give his team a 3–2 lead after one.

After a scoreless second period, the intensity ramped up again in the third. Kevin Cinquegrano netted the eventual game-winner early in the frame, extending the Threshers' lead before Solari briefly pulled the Knights back within one. The Threshers wasted little time answering, regaining control with another goal from Dupuis.

Chris Jennings added an insurance marker midway through the third to cap the scoring, while Nick Anderson stood firm in net to secure the win. Thamert finished with a standout multi-point effort as the Threshers' sustained pressure and balanced attack proved too much for the Knights.

It was a night of edge-of-your-seat hockey in the Classics Division this week! Three of the four games pushed past regulation, with two ending in shootouts, and the remaining matchup decided by a one-goal tally scored in the final four minutes - underscoring just how evenly matched the division has become.

Game 58 Regular Season 6:40 PM Feb 22, 2026 VIEW BOX SCORE	Longhorns (5 - 1 - 0) CLASSICS	0	2	1	0	1	4
	Spartans (2 - 4 - 0) CLASSICS	2	0	1	0	0	3

Longhorns Rally, Outlast Spartans in Shootout 4–3

The Spartans stormed out to a fast start, getting two first-period goals from Tom Powers to seize early control. The Longhorns weathered the pressure and flipped the momentum in the second period, as Paul Lafond and Ed Mortell scored just minutes apart to even the game at 2–2 heading into the final frame.

Lafond struck again in the third to give the Longhorns their first lead of the night, but the Spartans answered on a power-play goal from Bill Petrarca to tie the contest at 3–3. Both teams traded chances late in regulation and through a scoreless overtime, with Joe Burke and Matt Nelson standing tall in net.

The game ultimately moved to a shootout, where the Longhorns converted the decisive tally to secure the 4–3 victory. After overcoming a two-goal deficit and battling through special teams pressure, the Longhorns completed an impressive comeback effort.

Fury Strike in Overtime to Edge Hawks 2–1

The Fury earned a hard-fought 2–1 overtime victory over the Hawks in a tightly contested battle. Tom House opened the scoring midway through the first period, finishing off a setup from Don Aldridge and Shawn Malloy to give the Fury the early edge in an evenly played opening frame.

The Hawks answered in the second period when Sean Soares buried the equalizer off a feed from Kevin Gee. Both teams traded chances throughout regulation, with goaltenders Brandon Cardoza and Barry Kaiser standing tall as the shots remained nearly even and neither side could break the deadlock in the third.

Overtime provided the breakthrough, as Tom Hickie netted the game-winner just over four minutes into the extra session, with assists from Nate Powell and Malloy. Cardoza closed out the win with key saves down the stretch, securing the Fury's dramatic 2–1 triumph.

Game 53 Regular Season 8:55 PM Feb 22, 2026 VIEW BOX SCORE	 Astros (3 - 3 - 0) CLASSICS	0	2	0	2
	 Reapers (4 - 2 - 0) CLASSICS	1	0	0	1

Astros Rally in Second to Defeat Reapers 2–1

The Reapers grabbed the early lead in the first period when Kevin Barnard finished off a setup from Ronnie May and Jim Polito, but the Astros stayed within striking distance in a tightly played opening frame. Both teams traded chances, with the Reapers holding a slight edge in shots, but neither side was able to extend the margin before intermission.

The momentum shifted in the second period as Mike Coughlin tied the game with an unassisted effort. Just over a minute later, Steve Perkins netted what proved to be the game-winning goal off a feed from Alan Donaruma, giving the Astros a 2–1 advantage they would not relinquish.

The third period featured disciplined defensive play and strong goaltending, as Andrew Pelley turned aside late Reapers opportunities to preserve the win. In a closely contested matchup, the Astros' quick-strike second period made the difference in the 2–1 victory.

Game 60 Regular Season 9:13 PM Feb 22, 2026 VIEW BOX SCORE	 Bolts (3 - 3 - 0) CLASSICS	0	0	0	0	0	0

Mountainmen Prevail in Shootout After Scoreless Duel with Bolts

In one of the tightest defensive battles of the season, the Mountainmen edged the Bolts 1–0 in a shootout after 41 minutes of scoreless hockey. Both teams generated quality chances throughout regulation and overtime, but strong positional play and sharp goaltending kept the game locked at zeros across every period.

The Bolts carried a 26–17 advantage in shots, applying steady pressure, particularly in the first two periods. However, Mountainmen netminder Sean Dykens stood tall, turning aside every attempt he faced. At the other end, Rick Welch was equally impressive, matching Dykens save for save to force overtime and eventually a shootout.

With neither side able to break through in the extra frame, the contest was decided in the skills competition, where the Mountainmen converted the lone goal to secure the victory. After a disciplined, defense-first showdown, it was a single shootout tally that ultimately separated the two clubs.

	 Bulldogs (1 - 5 - 0) FEDERALS	0	1	1	2

Chiefs Rally Past Bulldogs in Tight 3–2 Contest

The Chiefs erased a second-period deficit and held off a late push to earn a 3–2 victory over the Bulldogs in a competitive Federals Division matchup. After a scoreless first period, the Bulldogs struck early in the second when Ed O'Brien converted off a feed from Gerry Caron. The Chiefs answered midway through the frame, as Art Riccio finished a setup from Daron Jacobs to even the score at 1–1 heading into the third.

The Chiefs grabbed control in the final period with back-to-back goals. Mike Coletti scored unassisted to give his team its first lead, and Tim Cruz followed with the eventual game-winner off assists from Peter Lynch and Jeff Simpson. Despite being outshot 22–17, the Chiefs capitalized on their opportunities at key moments.

The Bulldogs made it interesting in the closing seconds when Robert Sullivan found the net with just 10 seconds remaining, but Jeff Nawrocki and the Chiefs defense held firm to secure the narrow win.

	 Presidents (3 - 2 - 0) FEDERALS	1	0	3	4

Presidents Pull Away in Third to Defeat Patriots 4–2

The Presidents used a strong third-period surge to skate past the Patriots 4–2 in a tightly contested matchup. Sean Fitzgerald opened the scoring for the Presidents midway through the first, but the Patriots answered just seconds later when Mike Fay capitalized on a quick opportunity to even the game at 1–1 after the opening frame. Chad Conti made his Federal League debut in net for the Patriots filling in for Dave Nadell.

After a scoreless second period, the Presidents took control in the third. Dan Coletti restored the lead early in the period, and Teddy Bohld followed with what proved to be the game-winning goal off a setup from Kevin Mackin and Adam Young. The Patriots pulled back within one on a goal from Chuck Kilfoye, but the Presidents maintained their composure down the stretch.

Nate Rasmussen sealed the victory with an empty-net goal in the final seconds. Dan Nason earned the win in net as the Presidents outshot the Patriots 19–16 and capitalized on their chances when it mattered most.
